

Cleaning & Maintaining your Anna Torfs glass piece

The clear glass surfaces can be cleaned with any regular window or glass cleaner and a micro-fibre cloth.

Spray some cleaner on the cloth and polish until it is dry and shining.

The sanded surfaces of the glass object require special maintenance, therefore please read these instructions carefully to avoid damage.

The surfaces of sanded pieces might lose their deep, satin effect due to exposure to water, physical handling or the simple effects of time.

We recommend that you polish the surface of the glass with olive or paraffin oil once per year, allowing the oil to sink in.

This will help the glass retain the original, uniform shine and colour.

Wipe away as much excess oil as possible with the micro-fibre cloth.

Then take a new, clean micro-fibre cloth and rub the surface until there is no oil left on the surface

Finally, degrease the clear, non-sanded polished areas with window or glass cleaner, avoiding the sanded areas.
